

ROBIN HOOD

Richard the First is King of England. He is a brave, good man, and the people love him. They call him Richard the Lionheart.

But when the King goes away, his brother Prince John does his work...

Sheriff of Nottingham, the people must pay more taxes!

But Prince John, some of them can't pay.

Then take their houses and animals away from them!

Robin of Locksley lives near the town of Nottingham. He has a big house near Sherwood Forest.

Prince John is a thief! I must do something to help the people without homes or money, Lady Marian.

You're a brave man, but I am afraid for you.

Find him and bring him to me. He must die!

Robin of Locksley is a traitor!

Robin is getting married to Lady Marian Fitzwalter today. Bring him to the castle.

Bring him to the castle.

I must tell Robin now.

They want to kill you.
You must hide! Don't go home.

How can I marry
Lady Marian now? I've got no money, no house. I'm not
Robin of Locksley, I'm Robin
Hood, the outlaw!

There are more men living and hiding in Sherwood Forest.

We must take money from Prince John's bad men. And then give it to our people. They are hungry.

When Robin and his men see a rich man in the forest, they stop him.

We want money for the hungry people.

One day Robin and his outlaws are walking through the forest...

Robin hits him three times!
But the big man laughs.

One summer day...

They say Lady Marian's friend, Friar Tuck's living in the forest. But where?

There's a man living near the river. He carries people across. He's a fat man, and will fight anybody. Is he Friar Tuck?

Is this man Friar Tuck? I must see.

Wake up! I want you to carry me across the river.

Oh, no!

Now you can carry me - across the river again!

I can't carry you. You're very fat!

SPLASH

One day, a young boy is hunting in the forest. He kills a deer. But some of the Sheriff's men are watching him...

Early the next morning at Nottingham Castle, the Sheriff and his friend Sir Guy Gisborne look down from a castle window...

Suddenly...

Robin Hood wins again!

This Robin Hood likes to win. Yes?

Yes.

I've got an idea.

A day or two later...

There's a shooting contest in Nottingham. The winner gets a silver arrow!

That's very interesting.

I'm afraid, Robin. Why does the Sheriff want to have a contest? Perhaps he wants to catch you.

I know. But I must win the contest for the people of Nottingham.

On the day of the contest...

Who is the best man in this contest?

Sir Guy is the best man with a bow and arrow.

Where's Robin Hood? I don't see him. Do you?

He's here, I know. He likes to win shooting contests. Then we can catch him!

Forty men shoot their arrows.

Three men hit their targets in the centre – Sir Guy Gisborne, one of the Sheriff's men, and an old man with a beard. They shoot again.

This time, the Sheriff's man and Sir Guy do badly.

But the old man's arrow hits the centre!

Only one man can do that!
Robin Hood!

Get him!

The Sheriff's men are very slow. And everyone wants to help Robin.

Stop him!

I don't have my silver arrow. I must go back and get it one day.
Ha! Ha! Ha!

Sir Guy Gisborne visits Lord Fitzwalter.

Listen, Fitzwalter.
I want to marry your daughter, Lady Marian.

Oh!

No! I can never marry him! He's a bad man, and I love Robin.

I must go away.

I understand, my daughter. But Sir Guy can make things bad for us.

Yes, my daughter.

Two days later, Robin is walking through the forest. Suddenly he sees a young boy sitting under a tree.

What are you doing here?

I'm looking for Robin Hood.

Is this boy working for the Sheriff?

Robin Hood is an outlaw and a thief.

That's not true! Robin Hood isn't a thief!

Lady Marian tells Robin about Sir Guy ...

...and I can never marry him! Not in a hundred years! I love you, Robin.

And I love you, Marian. You must stay in Sherwood Forest with me.

A week later, Robin and Marian get married in Sherwood Forest.

We must fight for everything that is good and right. When King Richard comes back to England, he must know that we are his true friends.
